Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

The amendment filed February 12, 2004 has been entered and made of record as paper no. 0204.

Claims 2, 5, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 2, 5, and 7, "said second semiconductor layer" has no antecedent basis.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hakey et al (US-6,232,170-B1, cited by Applicants).

Hakey discloses in figures 1(d) and 1(e) a support substrate comprising a first region (16) and a second region (14), a buried oxide (12), a semiconductor layer (10a), an epitaxial layer (22), and an interface between the epitaxial layer and the supporting substrate being set in a portion which lies deeper than the buried oxide layer. As shown in figure 1(d), the second region of the supporting substrate has a surface lower than a surface of the first region of the support substrate.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3, 5-7, 9, and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hakey in view of Disney (US-6,127,701, of record).

Hakey discloses in figures 1(d) and 1(e) a support substrate comprising a first region (16) and a second region (14), a buried oxide (12), a semiconductor layer (10a), an epitaxial layer (22), and an interface between the epitaxial layer and the supporting substrate being set in a portion which lies deeper than the buried oxide layer. However, Hakey does not disclose the first and second elements being formed in the first and second regions. Disney discloses that the circuit elements can be formed in two different regions in order to form different type of circuits in different regions. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to form different elements in different regions of the support substrate of Hakey's device in order to form different type of circuits as taught by Disney.

In re claim 26, Hakey discloses the deep trench 24 used to form the trench type memory cell of a DRAM. Note line 17, column 5 of Hakey.
